

Announcement of the Jacob-Jacobi-Prize for the best Master's degree
for the academic year 2024/2025

- Application deadline until 20 April 2025 -

By resolution of the Faculty Council, the Leibniz-Kolleg Potsdam hereby awards the €500

Jacob-Jacobi-Prize for the
the best Master's degree of the year for the academic year 2024/2025 at the Faculty Sciences.

The right of nomination lies with the institutes, whereby a maximum of one nomination per institute may be submitted. The prize will be awarded to an outstanding graduate of a Master's degree programme of the faculty of the year (graduation from 1 April 2024 to 31 March 2025) for their excellent work in a mathematical or scientific field.

Proposals must be submitted in writing and in full to Office of Studies and Teaching by the above-mentioned deadline (cut-off date). A justification of the proposal by the institute as a laudation of the candidate is essential. This must recognise the quality of the results and the methodology.

The following documents are required: a generally understandable presentation of the academic research achievements, the Master's certificate and the Master's diploma, a curriculum vitae in tabular form with a timeline of studies and, if applicable, information on social commitment.

The jury appointed by the Faculty Council selects the award winner from the nominations. The selection is made without recourse to legal action.

Prof. Dr. Ralph Gräf

Potsdam, January 2025